3:00 - 4:30 PM - Program including Medea Benjamin's talk with Q and A.

The Program is free and open to the public, and will include an opportunity to contribute 2014 membership.

Trinity Church

33 Mercer Street, Princeton, NJ 08542

(enter through door closest to Nassau Street and Pierce Hall is on the right)

Medea Benjamin is a cofounder of both CODEPINK and of the international human rights organization Global Exchange. She is the author of eight books. Her latest book is Drone Warfare: Killing by Remote Control (autographed copies will be available for the discounted price of $15), and she has been campaigning to stop the use of killer drones. Her direct questioning of President Obama during his 2013 foreign policy address, as well as her recent trips to Pakistan and Yemen, helped shine a light on the innocent people killed by US drone strikes.

Unmanned: America's Drone Wars

Free screening and Discussion

Sunday, March 23 at 4:00 pm

Princeton Public Library (Community Room)
65 Witherspoon Street

Unmanned: America's Drone Wars is a film by Robert Greenwald and Brave New Foundation. Greenwald investigates the impact of U.S. drone strikes at home and abroad through more than 70 separate interviews, including a former American drone operator who shares what he has witnessed in his own words. Throughout Unmanned, interviews are interspersed with never-before-seen footage from tribal regions in Pakistan to humanize those who have been impacted by our drone policy.

Nick Mottern has worked as a reporter, researcher, writer and political organizer the last 30 years. While in the US Navy, he was in VietNam in 1962-63. He graduated from Columbia University's Graduate School of Journalism in 1966, and has worked as a reporter for the Providence (RI) Journal and Evening Bulletin, a researcher and writer for a US Senate Committee. He visited a number of African nations and war zones in Eritrea, Ethiopia and Mozambique as well as Israel and the West Bank. He manages www.KnowDrones.com. He was director of the 2012 national Know Drones Tour and in 2013 was an organizer of a national campaign to stop drone wars and surveillance.
